Lying—a Trait Common to Men and Animals

A professor from SMU once appeared before a Hope civic club and used the phrase "authentic liar"—then paused to define it.

An ordinary liar, he said, tells something he knows to be untrue to people who actually believe it. An extraordinary liar, he continued, is one who tells a lie to people who know it's a lie—but he tells it anyway.

But an authentic liar is something else, concluded the professor. He said an authentic liar is one who tells a lie to people who know it's a lie and he knows they know it's a lie—but he continues with the lie regardless.

What recalled this old yarn was an argument the other day about whether lies are more prevalent among women than among men—and I took the position that the question was irrelevant. Because lying is inherent not only in the human race but in the entire animal kingdom.

Example: My first Boxer dog had a son named Socker, nearly as large as his old man, but a good deal faster. There was an ancient ring-bone that looked like a miniature horse collar. It was the favorite plaything of both dogs. But the young dog latched onto it first and took off.

The old dog couldn't catch him. So the old dog came up to me, looked intently at the ground, and gave off with a peculiar bark, which he constantly repeated. Curious, I looked at the ground—and found absolutely nothing. But he kept barking, insisting he had made a discovery.

The young dog with the bone in his mouth was intrigued. Gradually he approached the scene of the "discovery." When he was within range his old man clobbered him, knocked the bone loose, grabbed it—and happily trotted off.

The young dog jumped up and down in a frenzy at being deceived.

Inadvertently the young dog had fallen victim to an animal lie—and it's the oldest tale in the animal kingdom, of which humans happen to be a part.

Doesn't Think Education in Jeopardy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Wednesday that he did not believe that public education was in jeopardy, but that he did believe more money was needed for education.

Bumpers made the remarks in a speech here to the summer conference of the Arkansas School Administrators Association.

The governor also said that he doubted that the state would be able to implement a vocational-technical training program in junior high schools and high schools.

More Rain Friday for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More rain for water-soaked Arkansas is forecast through Friday.

Showers and thundershowers are expected to be more numerous over the southern two-thirds of the state as a stationary front stretching across Central Arkansas refuses to budge.

The front has been sucking warm, moist Gulf air into the state for the past two days that has resulted in more than five inches of rain in some areas. Little temperature change is forecast. Afternoon highs are expected to be in the 80s through Friday, with lows to night in the 60s to low 70s.

Brief periods of sunshine early Wednesday afternoon lifted temperatures into the lower 80s at a few places, while highs were generally in the upper 70s. Fort Smith was the warmest with a high of 85 degrees.

Officials Go on With the Draft Lottery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national lottery to assign draft numbers to men turning 19 years old this year and establish the order of callups next year began today with June 20 getting No. 30.

The second number drawn gave No. 70 to those whose birthday is Sept. 2.

The first numbers were drawn by two of six youth advisers to the Selective Service System, J. Brewster Bede of Morton, Wash., age 22, and Valerie Van Buren of Washington, D.C.

The matching of numbers and birthdays started after the plexiglass drums holding the capsules had been rotated to mix them up for half an hour.

Curtis W. Tarr, draft director, came from a sick bed to open the ceremonies and say that the chances of these young men being drafted next year are growing slimmer as the military manpower needs go down.

The draft law expired June 30 and Congress is not expected to pass a new one until after it takes a summer vacation ending Sept. 8.

Of the nearly two million men born in 1952, only a fraction can expect to be drafted. The Pentagon has estimated it will need 114,000 draftees in the fiscal year that ends next June 30, and the winding down of the Vietnam war has steadily reduced draft calls.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr, ailing with the flu, underscored that in a statement sent to be read at the start of the drawing.

"Over this past year, draft calls have been significantly lower than in the past," he said. "In 1972, the year in which most of the men whose numbers are drawn today will be eligible for induction, we expect the draft calls will be even lower."

Men born in 1951 or earlier are not affected. They keep numbers assigned in two previous lotteries.

Biggerstaff Heads Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ray M. Biggerstaff, 43, of Little Rock was sworn in Wednesday as head of the state Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement.

Biggerstaff replaces John Hickey as director of the agency.

Hickey resigned to become regional director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. His headquarters will be in Dallas, Tex., and he will serve Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Biggerstaff was appointed by Gov. Dale Bumpers several days ago. He had been administrator of the state Crime Commission since 1968.

There Are Some Things We Could Do Without to Make Life Better

Astronauts on True Course for Home

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Alfred M. Worden took his first walk in deep space today, floating like a feather nearly 200,000 miles from the earth as he retrieved two film canisters from the rear of the striking Apollo 15 spacecraft.

A television camera relayed clear pictures to earth as Worden, bundled in a stiff pressure suit and attached to a 25-foot lifeline, made three 15-foot-trips to the camera bay, twice to extract the film and once to inspect equipment.

He stepped through the open hatch at 11:40 a.m. EDT and was back inside the cabin just 18 minutes later, the 10th man to take a walk in space, and the first to do so that far from his home planet.

With the hatch open, the entire cabin was exposed to the vacuum of space, so David R. Scott and James B. Irwin also wore protective spacesuits.

Irwin poked the upper part of his body out of the hatch to guide Worden's life support hose, to photograph him and to help him move the film canisters into the cabin.

"It's remarkable," Worden exclaimed of the breathtaking vista of sun, stars, sky and moon around him. He was about 197,000 miles from earth and 48,000 from the moon.

He looked back at Irwin, silhouetted against the fast-receding moon and said: "You look absolutely fantastic against that moon back there. That is really the most unbelievable, remarkable thing."

In addition, eight Americans now have walked on the moon, which has a gravity field one-sixth that of earth's.

Worden's stroll is necessary because the bay is jettisoned before re-entry and does not return to earth with the astronauts.

Man Sought in Knife Robbery Here

A man described as Negro, about 23 years old, is being sought by police in connection with robbery of Oscar W. Smith at Smith's Grocery at 1020 North Spruce Street Wednesday afternoon.

City Officers said the robber used a knife and slashed at Smith several times, wounding him slightly on the arm. He took between $7 and $8. Officers Jesse Brown and James Rowe investigated.

$300,000 From State for Arm Loss

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Claims Commission was asked Wednesday to award $300,000 to a Bald Knob girl whose left arm was amputated last summer because of alleged malpractice at the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

The complaint was filed by Alonzo Camp of Little Rock, an attorney, for Miss Louise Mitchell, who was treated for hepatitis at the Medical Center last summer.

Two doctors, M. K. Mardini and C. L. Worrells, were named in the complaint as agents of the state.

The complaint says Miss Mitchell was treated with a steroid drug that left her semi-conscious, causing her to have irresponsible physical actions. To restrain her thrashing in bed, the two doctors and their assistants had her left arm bound and taped to a board, the complaint said.

The arrangement proved painful to the arm, the complaint said, and, despite Miss Mitchell's efforts to get the board removed, the device remained in place for six days. When the board was removed, gangrene was found to have set in and the arm was amputated between the wrist and elbow.

Convicted on Murder Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Harris Ulmer, 40, of Savannah, Ga., was convicted Wednesday of first-degree murder in the shooting of Paul Ramos Guajardo, 35, of near Little Rock. The Circuit Court jury fixed his punishment at life in prison. Guajardo was shot June 26 at a service station in Little Rock.

Prescott Couple Killed Near Fulton

A Prescott couple died Wednesday when their automobile struck a bridge during a heavy rainstorm on Highway 67 just across Red River Fulton.

Cecil D. McCain, 62, was dead on arrival at St. Michael's hospital in Texarkana, and his wife, Gurtine, 55, died at 2:50 p.m. about three hours after the accident.

Arkansas State Trooper Robert Lavender said the McCain car was traveling west and apparently went out of control and started spinning. He said the vehicle struck the concrete Red River Relief bridge and the force of the impact ripped the automobile in half with the front part falling into the relief ditch.

Mrs. McCain's survivors include a sister, Mrs. John Shirley of Hope. Services for the victims will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at First Baptist Church of Prescott with Cornish Funeral Home in charge. Burial will be at Prescott.

GM Raises Price on All Cars $152

By CHARLES C. CAIN

Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — General Motors announced today its 1972 cars will carry price tags averaging $152, or 4.1 per cent, above comparably equipped 1971 models.

The 1972 cars go on sale Sept. 23 and announcement of new prices was not expected until then.

The only exception to the upward trend in GM's car line prices were the Chevrolet Camaro and the Pontiac Firebird whose prices were lowered between 1.2 and 1.3 per cent below 1971 prices.

Ford Motor Co. provided the first clue to the new car price trend in late July when it notified dealers that '72 cars being shipped to them would carry advance billing tags about 5.2 per cent over 1971 prices. The advance billing prices are those which Ford charges against the dealer when the cars are shipped and they can be adjusted when the final price tag time comes.

GM said prices of some optional items on the '72's had been upped an average of 3.2 per cent.

The No. 1 auto firm, which traditionally has set the pattern in new car prices, said that the manufacturers' suggested retail price for its new car lines, including the average equipment and average options, would be up $176 or 3.9 per cent above 1971 model prices.

This figure includes the 7 per cent federal excise tax and dealer preparation of the new cars for customer delivery but does not include state and local charges, and destination or shipping charges.

GM said its new prices were tentative and do not include provisions for the new seat belt warning system which the federal government says must be on all cars manufactured after Jan. 1, 1972. GM said prices of the unit will be announced at that time.

Prison Rodeo Is Cancelled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Correction Commissioner T. D. Hutto said Wednesday that the first Cummins Prison Farm rodeo has been cancelled.

He blamed the quarantine imposed on equines in Arkansas. The quarantine was imposed by Dr. R. M. Thomas, state veterinarian, in connection with a program to immunize horses against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis.

The disease, commonly called VEE, is a former of sleeping sickness often fatal to horses. A serious outbreak of VEE had developed in Texas.

Report That Hanoi to Release U.S. Prisoners Is Branded Incorrect

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Scandinavian airline said today a report that American military officials had asked the airline to fly 187 American prisoners of war from Laos to Europe was incorrect.

The earlier report had brought a flood of official denials from American and North Vietnamese officials.

The airline said today its office in West Germany had been approached in mid-July by a "private individual" who wanted to arrange a charter flight from Laos to Rome "for 187 passengers."

"It was never mentioned that the category of passengers was military personnel," SAS said in a statement released today.

The airline said it made preliminary arrangements and was ready to sign a contract, but this "has been called off by the private contact of SAS in Germany."

The "private individual" was not identified by name or nationality. The report of a prospective POW flight was first published Wednesday night in Sweden's biggest newspaper, Dagens Nyheter, which said the flight would be on Aug. 12.

This was followed by an announcement from an SAS spokesman that U.S. military authorities in West Germany had asked to charter a DC8 to airlift 187 POWs from Vientiane, the Laotian capital, to Rome by way of Bangkok.

Dagens Nyheter charged SAS with "giving way to political pressure to soft pedal the whole thing."

Editor in Chief Boerje Dahlqvist maintained the newspaper's reported, attributed to "sources," was "wholly correct as it stands," but refused to identify his sources. He did not specify what "political pressure" he claimed had been applied.

SAS spokesman Jack Herbert said: "Nuts to Dagens Nyheter. I can't give any explanation about this whole thing other than to say that a lot of people were unavailable when this story broke and that we could not sort things out until now."

Employees Not Qualified

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forty-one persons hired during the last three months of the tenure of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and the first six months of the administration of Gov. Dale Bumpers did not meet the minimum qualifications specified for their jobs.

That information is in a report prepared under law by the Personnel Division of the state Finance and Administration Department for submission to the Legislative Council.

George V. Young, director of the division, said some of the employees listed in the report had quit.

$21 Billion for Military Advances

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a $21-billion military buying authorization giving the Nixon administration just about everything it sought for major weapons development.

The committee made a slight reduction in funds for the Safeguard missile defense system and ruled out a start on extending it to the Washington, D.C., area, largely because the current deployment is running behind schedule and additional money could not be spent.

The committee restored $801.6 million cut out by the House for the Navy's F14 carrier-based fighter interceptor, citing the Pentagon's recommendation the program be carried out and the contractor's statement the funds are sufficient for 48 planes.

The procurement bill, which has precipitated lengthy Senate debates the past two years, will be called up for action in September.

It undoubtedly will attract a number of amendments, aimed at such major weapons programs as the Safeguard and the B1 advanced manned bomber. Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee predicted it "will have a very rugged trip on the floor."

An aide to Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said he will offer two amendments dealing with Laos—one to limit U.S. spending there and another to stop U.S. pay for Thai troops in Laos.

That latter amendment, rejected in committee 11 to 3, is aimed at tightening an anti-emergency provision adopted a year ago that prohibits spending U.S. funds for "Vietnamese or other free-world forces in actions designed to provide military support and assistance to the government of Cambodia or Laos." But it permits funds for "local forces in Laos and Thailand."

Food Prices Drop, Other Items Climb

By BILL NEIKIRK

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale food prices dropped in July, but a broad range of industrial raw materials and manufactured products posted the biggest seasonally adjusted cost increase in 15 years, the government said today.

The mixed report on wholesale prices came one day after President Nixon changed tactics and called for setting up a wage-price review board without binding the economy in a straightjacket of controls.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the prices of farm products and processed foods declined three-tenths of one per cent in July, the largest drop in eight months, and were down one per cent on a seasonal basis for the largest such drop in more than a year.

However, sharply higher prices for lumber and steel products resulted in a rise of five-tenths of one per cent, sharpest in 10 months. The increase for industrial products on a seasonal basis was tenths, highest since August of 1956, the bureau said.

The over-all result was an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent in the government's wholesale price index, the smallest rise in four months. On a seasonal basis, the rise was two-tenths, smallest in five months. The July increase pushed the wholesale index to 114.6 of its 1967 base of 100. This means wholesale goods worth $100 four years ago now cost $114.60.

The index was 3.3 per cent above a year earlier, the smallest annual spread in four months.

However, the bureau said that industrial prices in the past six months rose at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent, the largest increase since the six-month period ending in January, 1957.

Innocent Pleas Heard in U.S. Court

U.S. District Judge Paul X. Williams presided and heard pleas of innocent in federal court for the Western District of Arkansas at Texarkana Tuesday.

Arleen Shannon Van Hooks, 20, Rt. 3, Prescott, waived formal arraignment and entered pleas of innocent to two counts of stealing and forging a U.S. Treasury check. She was released on personal recognizance bond.

Othean Williams, 52, Rt. 1, Lewisville, pleaded innocent to three counts of violating liquor laws and was released on personal recognizance.

Lenard Richard Patton, 61, Rt. 1, Washington and Edgar Henry, 50, Rt. 1, Washington, waived formal arraignment and pleaded innocent to charges of violating liquor laws. Both released on personal recognizance bonds.

Isiah Jacobs, Rt. 2, Stamps and Olden Hughey, Rt. 2, Stamps pleaded innocent to four counts of violating liquor laws and released on personal recognizance.

All trials were set for November.

Murder Charge Is Dropped

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A first-degree murder charge against Eddie C. Jackson, 22, of Little Rock was dropped by the state Wednesday and Jackson pleaded guilty to a burglary charge. The murder charge had been filed in the May 22, 1970, shooting of Miss Vickie Siscoe, 14, her home in Little Rock.

George Johnson Jr., 24, of Little Rock, was convicted Nov. 1970, of first-degree murder of the girl's death. He was given life sentence.

The burglary charge alleged that Jackson broke into the Siscoe house the same night shooting, but before the girl was shot.

Ky Fails in Bid to Get on Ballot

SAIGON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky did not qualify as a candidate for the Oct. 3 presidential election.

The court ruled that there were only two qualified candidates—President Nguyen Van Thieu and retired Gen. Duong Van “Big” Minh.

A communique from the court said it rejected Ky’s petition because 39 of his 102 endorsements from provincial and municipal councilmen duplicated endorsements already given to Thieu and thus were invalid. A total of 100 certified signatures from councilmen, or 40 from members of the National Assembly, were required to qualify as a candidate.

The court said Thieu qualified with signatures of 452 councilmen and 104 endorsements from the National Assembly—15 senators and 89 lower house deputies.

Minh’s petition carried the names of 27 deputies and 17 senators.

Rockefeller Head Museum Commission

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was elected Wednesday as chairman of the Arkansas Museum and Cultural Commission, which will attempt to establish a museum complex here.

Cecil Cupp Jr. of Hot Springs, a bank president, was elected secretary.

The seven-member commission, appointed recently by Gov. Dale Bumpers, adopted a plan designed to involve the Smithsonian Institution in the Arkansas project.

The agenda for the meeting was shortened after Rockefeller suggested members of the commission needed to become more familiar with the plan before proceeding to related business.

U.S. to Push for Relief in Pakistan

By LEWIS GULICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers plans to go to the United Nations personally to push for a more energetic international relief effort for East Pakistani refugees.

Aides said Rogers intends to meet Monday with U.N. Secretary General U Thant, U.N. relief officials and others about the international undertaking which U.S. authorities regard as too slow and too little.

President Nixon, at an impromptu news conference Wednesday, noted the $70 million already supplied by the United States for East Pakistani refugees in India is more than all other countries of the world have contributed.

Nixon also hit at a House-passed ban on U.S. aid to Pakistan. The restriction would cut off $118 million in economic-development assistance and $5 million in arms help earmarked for Pakistan in the administration’s new foreign-aid bill.

Authors of the ban protest the Pakistani central government’s drive to stamp out a rebellion in East Pakistan. They say holding back the funds would pressure the Pakistani government, led by West Pakistanis, to improve its treatment of the Eastern provinces.

Disputing this, Nixon said stopping aid to Pakistan would hurt the government’s ability to distribute food in hungry East Pakistan. He said continuing U.S. assistance would allow Washington to influence the course of events better while “public pressure on the government of West Pakistan ... would be totally counter-productive.”

At about the time Nixon was speaking, 14 members of the U.S. Troops in Defensive Positions

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, announcing the remaining American troops in Vietnam have moved into defensive positions, has, in effect, declared U.S. responsibility for offensive ground-combat operations at an end.

“American forces in Vietnam today, as you can tell from reading the reports, are in defensive positions ... frankly just defending the area in which we have responsibility,” Nixon told a news conference Wednesday.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird followed this up a few hours later, saying the President’s remarks mean the first phase of the administration’s Vietnamization program is “virtually completed.”

Administration officials have said repeatedly turning over responsibility for ground-combat operations to the South Vietnamese—phase one of Vietnamization—would come sometime this summer.

American battle deaths, which averaged 60 a week in April, have fallen steadily, to 13 last week and 11 the week before. The level of fighting in Vietnam, has dropped noticeably, and it has been several weeks since U.S. troops engaged the enemy in an offensive operation.

About 225,000 GIs and fewer than 30 combat maneuver battalions remain in the war zone, compared to 543,400 troops and 112 maneuver battalions at the peak of the American commitment in April 1969.

Nixon, whose withdrawal timetable calls for the troop level to drop to 184,000 by Dec. 1, will make another pullout announcement in mid-November.

In the news conference, the President avoided saying directly that the U.S. combat role is over. White House officials have acknowledged the definition of “combat role” is extremely complex and for this reason are reluctant to make any flat statement that could shade into ambiguous situations.

Shifting of the U.S. role in Vietnam does not mean an end to American battle deaths. Although GIs will be concerned more and more with protecting the security of their base areas, officials have emphasized they will not remain in static defense positions. They still will go out on base-protecting patrols, for example.

Two Army divisions making up the bulk of the major American ground-combat power left in Vietnam still are positioned in the region below Quang Tri province and could be used to help the South Vietnamese hold an enemy offensive develop this summer and early fall. There still is significant airpower available in Vietnam and Thailand and aboard Navy carriers offshore to back up the South Vietnamese.

Defense officials have indicated that by next summer the U.S. presence in Vietnam will have dwindled to a military advisory and security force numbering about 50,000.

Pakistani embassy in Washington resigned, pledged loyalty to the independence movement in the Eastern province and asked for political asylum in the United States.

The defectors included one ranking minister and three counselors.

“We have decided to join the suffering millions of Bangladesh who are resisting with their lives the barbarity of the West Pakistan army who are determined to reduce East Pakistan to a colony,” said Sayyed A. Karim, Pakistan’s No. 2 representative at the United States.

Turning to Vietnam, the President pictured large-scale U.S. ground offensives as a thing of bygone days in view of U.S. troop withdrawals.

Nixon hinted that secret talks on a peace settlement are in process even though Washington has not made a formal public response to the offer made by the Viet Cong in Paris July 1.

“We are very actively pursuing negotiations on Vietnam in established channels,” he said. “The record, when it finally comes out, will answer all the critics” who say his administration is not trying hard enough for a peace.

Nixon Switches Tactics in Calling for a Wage, Price Review Board

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Switching his tactics, President Nixon has challenged Congress to structure a wage-price review board without binding the economy in a straitjacket of controls.

Welcoming a full-scale debate in Congress on the wage-price board proposal, Nixon said Wednesday he is now open-minded about the idea but still skeptical it would ever work or should even be tried. In the past he had rejected such a move outright.

Nixon’s new flexibility on the anti-inflation proposal was coupled with a pledge to move more vigorously against big wage and price increases in the economy on a case-by-case basis.

As Congress pondered his words, the Labor Department prepared a fresh reading on inflationary trends in the economy with a report on July wholesale-price movements.

Nixon’s challenge to Congress on a wage-price board was delivered in a roundabout way. He said he would consider such an idea favorably only if hearings convince him it could be done without stifling the economy.

“The problem here is, how can we move without putting the American economy in a straitjacket?” Nixon asked in an impromptu news conference.

He said he would reject any proposal that “would impose a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy. That, I think, would do far more harm than good.”

But, if a wage-price board proposal concerned itself with only voluntary guidelines, he said, that would never work, either. Voluntary compliance with guidelines may work for only three or four months before leading to a new wage-price spiral, he said.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns has suggested a board without enforcement powers to monitor and investigate big wage and price increases. Some Democrats have suggested a board with strong enforcement powers.

Legislation introduced by 13 Republican senators Wednesday, a move triggering Nixon’s response, would set up a board to establish wage-price guidelines and enforce them through man’s greatest lunar expedition late Wednesday when they fired the Endeavour out of moon orbit on a near-perfect course that will carry them to a splashdown in the Pacific Ocean 285 miles north of Hawaii at 4:46 p.m. Saturday.

Scientists here are eagerly awaiting the approximately 175 pounds of rocks Scott and Irwin gathered during three days on the moon.

Before heading for home, Apollo 15 ejected into lunar orbit a 78.5-pound science satellite intended to send back data for at least a year on the precise shape of the moon and on magnetic, gravity and electrical fields.

“Tally-ho,” Scott called out as the payload was spring-ejected from the same bay that carries the mapping cameras. “That’s a very pretty satellite out there. It seems to be rotating quite well. Very stable.”

Earth stations immediately began receiving strong signals from the new lunar explorer.

Apollo 15 was on its 74th orbit of the moon. As the astronauts were about to whip around the backside, out of radio contact, for the last time, capsule communicator Joseph Allen told them:

“Set your sails for home. We’re predicting good weather, a strong tail wind and we’ll be waiting on the dock.”

A two-minute rocket firing behind the moon added nearly 3,000 miles an hour to the spaceship’s speed and it broke out of the grasp of lunar gravity.

“Endeavour’s on the way home,” mission commander Scott reported as the ship came around the moon. “What a smooth burn that was.”

As Apollo 15 pulled away, Scott commented: “We’re almost speechless looking at this thing. It’s amazing. Looks like we’re going straight up and we’re leaving. There’s no doubt about that.”

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A report that American military officials in Germany had asked a Scandinavian airline to fly 187 American prisoners of war from Laos to Europe brought a flood of official denials today from both American and North Vietnamese officials.

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Supreme Court ruled today that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky did not qualify as a candidate for the Oct. 3 presidential election, and ruled that there were only two qualified candidates — President Nguyen Van Thieu and retired Gen. Duong Van “Big” Minh.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, announcing the remaining American troops in Vietnam have moved into defensive positions, has, in effect, declared U.S. responsibility for offensive ground-combat operations at an end.

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the draft still in legal limbo, Selective Service officials today went ahead with a lottery to determine the order in which men turning 19 this year will face military service.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he won’t aid a filibuster against the House-passed compromise bill to extend the draft, but backers concede the bill can’t become law for at least a month.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changing his tactics, President Nixon has challenged Congress to structure a wage-price review board without binding the economy in a straitjacket of controls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers plans to go to the United Nations personally to push for a more energetic international relief effort for East Pakistani refugees.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1-billion bill to find jobs in a hurry — primarily for Vietnam veterans — was poised today for a quick trip from the Senate to the White House.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a $21-billion military buying authorization giving the Nixon administration just about everything it sought for major weapons development.

Order of Call in the Draft Lottery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the order of call, listing each birth date with the number assigned to it, for the 1972 military draft as determined by the lottery drawing today.

The first draftees will be those with the lowest numbers. However, draft boards will go as high as necessary to fill military manpower needs.

Shower for Bride-elect
A Gadget Shower for Miss Sally Booth, bride-elect of Joe Carter Short of Fayetteville, was given July 29 in the home of Mrs. Bin McRae with Mrs. J.W. Franks and Mrs. Jim James, co-hostesses.

Miss Booth was presented a daisy corsage that she pinned to the shoulder of her trousseau frock. Flowers were also given to her mother, Mrs. Duffie D. Booth, her grandmother, Mrs. Emory Thompson, and her great-aunt, Mrs. E.M. McWilliams.

The serving table was covered with an informal fringed cloth centered with a black wrought-iron bowl holding multi-colored zinnias. Mrs. Kelly White of Little Rock, sister of the bride-elect, poured punch, and Mrs. John Burgess and Mrs. Ronnie Formby served assorted tidbits. The 28 guests brought the honoree a nice assortment of useful gadgets.

After Miss Nolen had opened her many lovely and useful gifts, the guests were invited into the dining room. There, the table was overlaid with white linen and centered with pink and orchid-colored carnations in silver flanked by orchid candles in silver. Coffee, frosted raspberry punch, cake squares trimmed with lavender and white wedding bells, nuts and mints were served.

Mrs. Nell Mills of El Campo, Tex., an aunt of the honoree, poured the coffee, and Mrs. Bobby Bonds served the punch. Mrs. Ronald Garner of Hot Springs presided at the guest book where about 20 registered. They included Mrs. Martha Craig and Mrs. Max Bryant, Prescott; Mrs. Hoyett Newsom, Hot Springs; and Mrs. Marie Stringer, El Dorado.

Team 2 won in the weekly contest; Mae Collins was Queen for the Week; and Nina Anthony was Queen for the Month.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank assisted by Mrs. Edna Gibson during the social hour.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Arl Fincher and Sandra Sheiron of Monticello joined Mrs. Joyce Gentry and Teresa, the Steve Sheiron family in Dallas and all spent a 10 day vacation in Aspen and Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Points of interest were the Continental Divide, Royal George, Garden of the Gods, U.S. Air Force Academy, and touring the old Gold Mining Town at Cripple Creek.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Anthony of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., arrived Wednesday to see Mrs. Graydon Anthony and the Bill Routon family.

Maj. John W. Amos is home from a year's tour of duty in Vietnam. He, his wife and 3 children have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Amos, but they left this week for his new assignment in Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If the rest of the "Good Life" company survives this week, Larry Hagman will be back on the small screens next month playing a butler.

The actor, son of Broadway's Mary Martin, starred for five seasons as an anxious astronaut controlled by a beautiful genie in "I Dream of Jeannie." This time out he is a fed-up young stockbroker who chucks the middle-class life to go into domestic service with his wife.

In the NBC comedy episode currently in production, Hagman uses a battery-powered wheel chair. Props, lighting equipment, life and limb are imperiled as he shoots around practicing stopping, starting and—most unpredictable—turning.

Rocketing out of one scene, Hagman skidded to a halt against the metal base of a big klieg light to announce that he was happy to return to a comedy series. Last season, following the demise of "Jeannie," Hagman was in great demand for guest shots on other series, roles in movies-for-TV, and even found time to direct a theatrical film. But he never had any funny stuff.

Hagman had a deal for another series, and "The Good Life" idea turned up a week before the studio's option ran out. Since it is based on Hollywood Comedy writers' ideas about how the very rich live, it is almost as much of a fantasy—but without camera tricks—as was "Jeannie."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

GIVE THE BRIDE HER DAY

Dear Helen:
Marriage I'm not worried about. It's GETTING married. My fiancée and I may not even be speaking on our wedding day.

Her family is Methodist. Mine is Baptist. She and her mother insist we get married in HER church in her town. I feel I am being led by the nose. I prefer my church, as a "neutral" site.

I want the wedding on Friday night, so we can have a full weekend honeymoon before I go back to school. Being a college student without much money, I can't take time off in the summer, or classes off during the school year. So why should we wait till Saturday afternoon? Because her parents want to give out-of-town guests time to arrive!

Helen, should a man be forced to marry in a church he doesn't want at a time he doesn't want, in a town he doesn't like? Why can't we have our wedding the way we want it?—PAUL Dear Paul:

"We"? Your future wife seems happy with arrangements. Inasmuch as it's the "bride's day," you're destined to lose this hassle—so why not concede gracefully, in the interest of a happy honeymoon (though short)?

Or—a much better idea—forget the big wedding blues and elope.—H.

Dear Helen:
From things you've written, I sorta get the feeling you don't care for big weddings. True?—ME TOO

Dear Me Too:
True and double true! I don't care for big, extravagant, personal whoopeedoes, period—be they wedding cocktail parties, whatever. They're tremendous wastes of time, energy and money—and they usually end in hard feelings, one way or another.—H.

Dear Helen:
I'm really concerned about my friend. She comes to school with bruises, because her brother and sister and mother beat her up. Everything that happens, she gets blamed for. If she tells anyone her brother hit her (actually slugged is a better word) her mother lays into her for "telling family things."

Two months ago her grandmother burned most of her clothes, because she got mad. This month her mother burned more of her clothes, so now she has one blouse, two dresses and two pair of socks.

She has to do all the work, and if anything goes wrong, she gets beat. She sleeps in the kitchen. Now she tells me her mother isn't going to let her come back to school.

What can I do to help?—CONCERNED FRIEND
Dear Friend:

First, verify the story. Then, if what your friend says is true, call the Child Welfare Agency, and ask for an investigation. The girl will be put in a foster home if her family environment warrants it.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1971, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

KC Singing Hurler Gives Up 2 Hits

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

After writing and singing songs, what can Al Fitzmorris do for an encore?

How about a two-hitter.

Fitzmorris, Kansas City's singing pitcher, hit the high note of his baseball career with a 3-0 waltz Wednesday over the heavy-hitting Minnesota Twins after the Royals won the opener of a two-night doubleheader, 2-1.

"This is the best game of my career—by far, the best," said Fitzmorris, who has done considerable song-writing and singing for several years during the off-season.

Fitzmorris was flirting with a no-hitter when Harmon Killebrew singled to lead off the seventh inning.

In the other American League games, the New York Yankees blasted the Cleveland Indians 7-3; the Detroit Tigers tripped the Washington Senators 2-1; the Baltimore Orioles topped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 in 10 innings in the opener of a two-night doubleheader before rain washed out the nightcap; the Chicago White Sox buried the California Angels 10-3 and the Oakland A's nudged the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5.

National League scores: Cincinnati 1, New York 0, Atlanta 5, Philadelphia 3; Montreal 4, Pittsburgh 3 in 11 innings; Houston 2, Los Angeles 0; St. Louis 7, San Francisco 2; Chicago 6, San Diego 0 in the regularly-scheduled contest.

Until Killebrew broke the spell, Fitzmorris knew full well what was happening.

"Sure, I knew what was going on," said Fitzmorris, "pitchers always say they aren't aware they're pitching a no-hitter. I doubt that. No-hitters don't come along often enough not to be aware of them."

Fitzmorris hasn't had too much experience with victories, let alone no-hitters, in his three-year major league career. Used primarily as a relief pitcher, his triumph Wednesday night was only the 12th in three seasons.

Until his two-hit beauty, Fitzmorris hadn't had that much success against Minnesota.

"I think this is the first time I ever pitched against the Twins that Killebrew didn't hit a homer off me," said Fitzmorris.

Fitzmorris' brilliance Wednesday was almost matched by Minnesota's Ray Corbin, who had allowed only three hits before coming unstruck in the Kansas City eighth.

In the opener, Dick Drago bested Bert Blyleven in a tough pitching duel. Hopkins knocked in the winning run to climax a two-run first inning for Kansas City.

Roy White slammed a two-run homer and Danny Cater drove in three runs without a hit in New York's victory that gave the Yankees a sweep of their three-game series with Cleveland. White staked winner Stan Bahnsen to a 2-0 lead in the first with his two-run homer, and Cater followed with RBI on a groundout in the fourth, a bases-loaded walk in the sixth and a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Mickey Lolich notched his 17th victory, striking out 14, as Detroit stopped Washington. Al Kaline tripled and scored the first run in the third, then homered in the third for the winning tally.

Merv Rettenmund's 10th-inning single—his fourth hit of the game—chased home Baltimore's winning run as the Ori-

Thomas Has Not Made Any Headway

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer

Controversial running back Duane Thomas, the fleet-footed one who led the Dallas Cowboys in rushing last season, has covered a lot of ground this past week but doesn't seem to have made any headway.

Thomas was traded by the Cowboys to the New England Patriots last weekend after he tossed several verbal barbs at Dallas management and requested that he be swapped. Under terms of the transaction, New England sent halfback Carl Garrett and the Patriots' No. 1 draft pick next year to Dallas and also received lineman Halvor Hagen and wide receiver Honor Jackson from the Cowboys.

Dallas President Tex Schramm, who has been a target of Thomas' fiery criticism, announced Wednesday that part of the deal had been cancelled. Thomas was coming back to Dallas, Garrett was returning to the Patriots and New England could keep Hagen and Johnson in exchange for two undisclosed draft choices, he said.

Thomas deserted the Patriots training camp Monday.

Schramm said the cancellation had been prompted by questions raised about Thomas' condition by the New England team physician.

The Patriots issued a statement which said:

"The Patriots team physician, in the course of his physical examination of Duane Thomas when he arrived at training camp, developed certain questions concerning Thomas' general condition." The team neglected to elaborate but said, "These concerns were confirmed in the brief practice that followed. Mr. Thomas has since withdrawn from training camp after declining to complete his physical examination."

Elsewhere in the NFL, the Philadelphia Eagles retreated under a threatened lawsuit and recalled waivers on defensive back Ron Medved. The veteran player was placed on waivers Monday and charged the Eagles had dealt with him in bad faith because he was waived while waiting for an injured ankle to heal.

Eagles General Manager Pete Retzlaff rejected Medved's contention and said a doctor had pronounced the player physically fit.

Wide receiver, Jerry LeVias, traded to the San Diego Chargers by the Houston Oilers, has not appeared in camp and is being fined.

The San Francisco 49ers, gearing for their upcoming exhibition opener against Cleveland, put the wraps on their workouts and retired indoors Wednesday. Coach Dick Nolan trimmed the practice schedule from two workouts a day to one and limited contact work.

Rookies Joe Profit and Willie Belton registered long touchdown runs as the Atlanta Falcons conducted a 30-minute rushing scrimmage.

The coaching staff of the Pittsburgh Steelers came away from a goal line offense drill and remarked their team showed improvement over their 1970 performances in that area.

The Cincinnati Bengals had their practice curtailed as heavy downpours turned the practice field into a soggy, slippery mess.

The cutting grass continued to swing at several pro football camps as teams battled the midnight deadline for a 60-player limit. The Kansas City Chiefs made the biggest cut, trimming 11 players from their roster.

Defense back Richard Pettibone joined the growing list of Rams traded to the Redskins since former Los Angeles coach George Allen assumed the reins in Washington.

Allen called Pettibone "one of the great strong safeties in football. He knows our system and he is a winner." Pettibone was acquired for undisclosed draft picks.

The Redskins also traded defensive end Bruce Anderson to New Orleans in exchange for running back Tom Barrington.

The Federation world tournament, Bowling is the fourth sport to be so recognized, following baseball, football, basketball in receiving a stamp of its own.

Nicklaus Is Man to Beat, Coody Thinks

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Masters champion Charles Coody says no one will come close to Jack Nicklaus in the $150,000 American Golf Classic, if the Golden Bear is playing up to par.

"If Nicklaus is on his game, nobody else has a chance," said Coody before the 72-hole pro tour event began today over the Firestone South course, playing a long and wet 7,180 yards at par 70.

A field of 103, headed by defending champion Frank Beard, Arnold Palmer and Nicklaus, is shooting for $30,000 first-prize money.

Eight of the year's 10 leading money winners are here. Only No. 1 Lee Trevino, the U.S. and British Open champion, and No. 4 Gary Player are missing this week.

Host pro Bobby Nichols, 1964 PGA champion, shot 272 and finished second to Ray Floyd two years ago when Floyd fired a Classic record of 12-under-par 268. What about his own chances?

"I'm striking the ball well," Nichols said. "I hope to do well, but sometimes you try too hard in front of your own folks."

Most pros think Firestone favors the big, powerful golfers like Tom Weiskopf, Palmer and Nicklaus, Nichols doesn't agree.

"I don't say the long hitters have an advantage here. You have to keep it straight and you have to negotiate all of those fairway bunkers. I'd rather be in the rough," said Nichols, who has won $87,548 in 20 tournaments this year.

Palmer and Nicklaus, who paired for an awesome 27-under par 257 for the PGA National Team championship last week, are co-favorites in the Classic. Palmer won here in 1962 and 1967 and Nicklaus in 1968.

Each is his fifth tour victories of the year, which would pass Trevino in 1971 triumphs as well as give them the No. 1 spot on the money list.

Trevino, resting at his El Paso, Tex., home this week, has won $197,219, Nicklaus $187,763 and Palmer $184,799.

Forsch Now Remembered by Dodgers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers forgot Ken Forsch once before, but they remember him now.

Forsch, a rookie right-hander, hurled a four-hitter for Houston Wednesday night, shutting out the Dodgers 2-0 and ending a five-game L.A. winning streak. It was the youngster's first major league shutout and it came against a team that once professed interest in Forsch—all of one phone call's worth.

Forsch, an outstanding pitcher at Oregon State, was drafted by the Astros in 1968. But before the draft, the Dodgers apparently were thinking about the youngster.

"The night before the draft, I got a phone call from somebody with the Dodgers," Forsch said. "They asked if I was interested and I said yes. That's the last I heard from them. Just one phone call, that's all."

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Cincinnati shut out New York 1-0, Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 5-3, Montreal nipped Pittsburgh 4-3 in 11 innings, St. Louis downed San Francisco 7-2 and Chicago won two from San Diego, 6-4 in the completion of a suspended game and then 3-0 in the regularly scheduled contest.

In the American League, New York rapped Cleveland 7-3, Kansas City swept a doubleheader from Minnesota 2-1 and 3-0, Detroit topped Washington 2-1, Baltimore downed Boston 5-4 in 10 innings, Chicago bombed California 10-3 and Oakland beat Milwaukee 6-5.

Forsch, 6-5, struck out nine Dodgers and ended a personal four-game losing streak. He had not won since July 4.

The tall rookie was locked in a scoreless duel with veteran Al Downing until the sixth inning when the Astros struck for both their runs, ending a 21-inning scoreless streak.

Roger Metzger started the winning rally with a single and Joe Morgan worked Downing for the Astros' only walk. Jim Wynn sacrificed the runners along and Cesar Cedeño drilled a two-run single.

The loss cost the Dodgers a chance to pick up ground on San Francisco, the NL's Western Division leaders. The Giants fell victim to Bob Gibson's 200th career victory, bowing on a seven-hitter.

Ted Kubiak slugged a three-run homer for the Cardinals as Gibson beat San Francisco for the 10th consecutive time. Only two other active pitchers, Juan Marichal of the Giants and Philadelphia's Jim Bunning, have passed the 200-victory plateau.

Gary Sutherland drilled an 11th inning pinch single to move Montreal past Pittsburgh's Eastern Division leaders. Boots Day and Ron Brand had singled in front of Sutherland's deciding hit.

Bob Bailey drove in the Expos' first three runs with a sacrifice fly in the third inning and a bases-loaded single in the fifth. Manny Sanguillen homered for the Pirates.

Mike Lum's two-out, two-run single in the ninth inning gave Atlanta its victory over Philadelphia. Lum delivered his winning hit after the Braves had loaded the bases on a single by winning pitcher Mike McQueen and walks to Ralph Garr and Hank Aaron.

Felix Millan's two-run double had tied the game for Atlanta in the seventh after Roger Freed's two-run homer helped the Phillies build an early 2-0 lead.

Pete Rose's eighth inning double drove in the only run of the game and gave Cincinnati its victory over the Mets. Gary Nolan earned the victory with last-out help from Clay Carroll, besting New York's Gary Gentry, who had a career-high 11 strikeouts.

The Cubs completed a victory

American Conference: Eastern Division
NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS

PROSPECTUS—Back Bay shuffle has really dredged up something—new name, new coach, new stadium, new general manager, new quarterback. But a lot of the old player personnel problems. Mainly, not enough class bodies to fill all the slots. With louisiest record in pro ball, Patriots haven't been exuberantly successful in dispelling losing image. They've lost at least 10 games a season since '66. They'll still lose.

Offense
PASSING — Era of Jim Plunkett about to begin. Joe Kapp willing. Pats have cornered market on QBs of Mexican descent. Actually, Plunkett can't miss. Contract hassle could eliminate Kapp, who throws knuckleballs but breathes fire. Rating—B.

RUNNING — Suspicion that Bo Nance, all wobbly 250 pounds of him, may have had it. Carl Garrett's kind of runner coveted by other teams, but life with Patriots hasn't been mutually compatible so far. Potentially, these guys could do it, but don't hold your breath. Young Odell Lawson will see lots of action. Rating—B-.

RECEIVING — Start with Ron Sellers, who hasn't performed up to his potential for two years, and stop right there. There's been some question about Sellers catching in crowd, but he's really tight material. But Pats desperately need another wide receiver, and there's no bonafide tight end around either. With Tom Beer switched to guard. Rating—C-.

LINE — Couple of years ago, Pats thought they had topflight unit. Good center in Jon Morris, rugged guards in Mike Montler, Len St. Jean, adequate tackles. But last year their protection broke down. Or maybe it was their morale under the operating conditions. At any rate, one of Coach Johnny Mazur's big jobs is to spark them back up. Rating—C+.

Prediction
Well, they'll sell a lot of season tickets. And maybe they'll rise notch to fourth in East.

The commission has one plane, which probably will be sold if a new one is purchased, Hulseley said. The plane now owned seats six. Then Milt Pappas scattered eight hits and shutout the Padres for his 12th victory of the year. Joe Pepitone stroked a single and double to lead the Cubs' attack.

"NIGHTTIME - TIME FOR LUNKERS!"
It is at night that the real lunkers go on prowl. King-size bass may sulk all day in some deep retreat but at night with appetites aroused they cruise in search of food. Effective surface lures are large popping bugs, chuggers and lures that have a noisy, wobbling action when retrieved. For "bottom-bumping," plastic worms along with leadhead jugs trailing 4 to 6 inch pork eels are among the top producers of trophy bass. Bottom-bumping lures should be of the weedless variety. Last but not least, remember this is a time when lures must be retrieved very slowly at a snail's pace!

Pan Am Games Cinched by Americans

By HUBERT MIZELL,
Associated Press Sports Writer

CALI, Colombia (AP) — Adored distance runner Alvaro Mejias can light a fuse to ignite all of Colombia today, no matter if U.S. track and field heroes virtually have cinched the Pan American Games for Uncle Sam.

"Alvaro, Alvaro," the voices of Cali will chant as the lithe, 145-pound Mejias strains to win the gruelling Pan Am marathon for the host country.

Mejias whipped a thundering herd of 887 runners in April to win the fabled Boston Marathon and excite his countrymen for today's grind for a Pan Am gold medal.

The 5-foot-10 Mejias, a man of 30 with mustache and rippling muscles, is married to former USA Olympic swimmer Terri Stickle.

While Alvaro runs for Colombia, the talent-deep Americans are continuing to jam their war chest with gold medals with swimming—a Yankee favorite—ready to begin Friday.

The USA has 36 golds, 26 silver medals and 16 bronze for a total of 78 medals. Cuba's red tide was beginning to be stemmed as Castro's troops hit 50 medallions including 12 golds, 26 silvers and 12 bronze.

Canada is a distant third with 5-5-15 for an aggregate of 25 medals.

Track and field ends today and with only a few events on schedule the United States had won 16 of 18 men's tests, setting nine Pan Am records.

USA girls have three golds in nine events including two records. Lynn Graham, a 230-pound Fresno, Calif., giant, heaved the shot put an incredible 51-8-1/2 Wednesday night.

Women's gymnastics continue to be a major medal-maker for the United States, cute 16-year-old Roxanne Pierce of Kensington, Md., winning four golds to lead a Yankee sweep.

The old-timers are doing their part, led by 41-year-old Al Hall of Charlton City, Mass., who sailed the hammer a record 216 feet Wednesday night.

Jan Johnson, a University of Alabama pole vaulter from Chicago Heights, Ill., gave the crowd of 40,000 a charge by clearing 17-5-3/4 to better still another Pan Am mark.

Muscular minister Russ Knipp of Fullerton, Calif., lifted a record total of 990 pounds in the middleweight class to bag three gold medals.

USA fencers swashbuckled their way to men's and women's foil team crowns and U.S. deadeyes outshot the Cubans to take away four golds and a silver in skeet and small bore rifle firing from a prone position.

Surgery Fixes Nelson's Ankle Damage

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Walter Nelson, the backup quarterback for the Arkansas Razorbacks, was reported in good condition Wednesday following surgery on his left ankle.

The surgery corrected ligament damage suffered July 26 during a pickup basketball game here. Nelson will be lost to the team for about two months.

The injury first was thought to be a sprain, but when the condition worsened re-examination disclosed ligament damage.

Coach Frank Broyles said Nelson's ankle probably would be in a cast for at least five weeks.

Those Were the Days

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "I got Lee Trevino when people thought he was some kind of Mexican hot dog and I made him a million bucks," said Bucky Woy, Trevino's former manager, who was sued by Trevino and then countersued and won an out-of-court settlement in April, 1970.

"Of course I miss the guy," said Woy. "He's the hottest thing in sports now, isn't he? And we were good friends. We drank together, we ran together, we laughed together, we made money together. We carried on like wild men. After he left me, well, I'll be honest about it, my world caved in. Until then, I was the leading money winner on the tour—and I had never even drawn back a putter.

"I read Time magazine and see the funny lines he says and I gave him some of those lines. I said he'll play anywhere from the Canadian Bacon Open to the Screen Door Open. I said that he'd give a woman golfing lessons, starting her out with irons and working her into the woods.

"And the money, oh, the money. He won the championships, sure, but I got the contracts. I got him a $100,000 a year to play the Faultless golf ball, $50,000 a year to drive a Dodge, $50,000 a year to say he drinks Dr. Pepper, big money to put a sombrero emblem on Blue Bell clothes, up to $20,000 an article for Golf Magazine.

"We did so terrific that I think Lee and I ruined the endorsements racket for athletes. When it came out in the suit how much money we were getting, the companies asked themselves, 'Hey, are we paying all this money for this?' Lee was the last athlete to get big-time commercial endorsements.

"So what happened? If we were so close why'd he drop me? Bad breath or something?"

On the surface, Trevino sued Woy for "mismanagement." Trevino did not want to share with Woy his golf winnings. When Woy insisted, Trevino sued. Woy countersued and Trevino agreed to pay Woy nearly $250,000 to dissolve the arrangement.

But Woy and some reliable golf sources contend that Don Whittington, who is married to a Mexican woman, and his cousin, Jess Whittington, came between Woy and Trevino.

Whittington and Whittington are from Texas, like Trevino, and were his earliest financial backers on the tour. It seems they wanted a closer relationship with Trevino. "I guess Lee felt an allegiance to them," said Woy. "Whittington especially talked against me."

Woy signed Trevino to a contract the day after Trevino won the 1968 U.S. Open. He threw a $4,000 tequila party that day.

"Lee had never drunk the stuff before, with frosted glasses, the works," said Woy. "Quite frankly, Lee was a beer drinker from the other side of the tracks. From then on, I spilled my blood for the guy. I loved him, still do. It was like representing my mother."

Woy then established his own management company, and represented athletes in various sports. In one year, for example, he said he negotiated big contracts for four of the top seven pro football draftees. He said he

Senators Need Quick Solution

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Short, harassed by debts, says a solution must be found quickly if his Washington Senators are to remain in the nation's capital.

The club's financial plight was a highlight of talk among major league baseball executives who closed a two-day meeting Wednesday after discussing a variety of matters.

Such topics as rule changes, realignments, schedules, short-or spring training, player draft, etc., either were put back into committees for further study or logged for action at the winter meetings opening Nov. 29 in Phoenix.

Short doesn't know if he'll be around then. He said Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and American League President Joe Cro-

nion "are reviewing the ground that I have been reviewing for three years and still don't have the answer."

Short, Cronin and Kuhn make up a committee seeking ways and means of keeping the Senators franchise in Washington.

"I certainly don't have the desire to move but I don't have the desire to go bankrupt either," said Short, adding that his asking price for the franchise is the $9.4 million, "that I paid for it, plus about $1.5 million in losses."

SAN DIEGO (AP) — After it was announced that the San Francisco Warriors would not play half their games in the San Diego International Sports Arena, San Diego Gull Coach Max McNab said he had made a decision about his Western Hockey League team:

"We have just decided not to play half our games in the Bay area," McNab quipped.

LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — A field of 113 golfers were entered for today's qualifying round in the 72-hole annual Porter Cup tournament at Niagara Falls Country Club. The tourney gets underway Thursday.

Monday's qualifying play was led by Jeff Jerrel, a sophomore from the University of Georgia. He shot a three-under-par 67.

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — Fifty-nine of the original 204 starters in the Rhode Island Open Golf Tournament were trying to catch front-running Dick Hanscom today in the tourney's final 36 holes.

Hanscom, of Newton Center, Mass., fired a four-under-par 68 Monday to bring a four-stroke lead into today's final round.

Dedication of Reader Park, Road

LITTLE ROCK — On Saturday, August 7 the Lewis Johnson Green Thumb Park at Reader in Ouachita County, and State Highway 368, the main access route to the park, will be formally dedicated and officially opened. The public is invited to attend.

A gala day has been planned by Reader citizens. Activities will start at 1:00 with music by the Green Thumb Fiddlers, made up of the Green Thumb crew from Mountain View, and other musical organizations. The actual program will begin at 2:30. Reader Mayor Edward Turner will give the welcome address and introductions. Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott will act as master of ceremonies.

Speakers will include Congressman David Pryor of Camden, Highway Commission Chairman John Harsh of Magnolia and Lewis J. Johnson, national director of the Green Thumb program and a native of Reader for whom the park is being named. The rustic park was built by a Green Thumb crew supervised by J. W. Myrick. Bud Witter, retired from the Highway Department, is state director of the Green Thumb program in Arkansas.

After the park dedication there will be a ribbon cutting by Mayor Turner and attending Highway officials for State Highway 368, which begins at a junction with Highway 24 at Chidester, and rejoins the highway approximately seven miles westward. The Highway Department improved 4.1 miles of the road from Chidester to Reader in 1968 and has this summer completed reconstruction of the remaining section. Total cost of the seven miles was approximately $300,000. Highway 328 provides a shorter route between Prescott and Camden and better access to Reader Railroad, a nationally known tourist attraction.

At 3:30 p.m. the Reader, which crosses Highway 368 at the Lewis Johnson Park, will offer free rides aboard the picturesque train to those attending the dedication, courtesy of Tom W. M. Long, president and general manager. The train will operate as long as necessary to give all who wish an opportunity to ride. The Reader, sometimes called the Possum Trot Line, is a legend in its own time, being the only remaining regularly scheduled mixed train (passenger and freight cars) powered exclusively by steam in the United States. It passes through a largely timbered area bearing community names like Terrapin Neck, Goose Ankle and, of course, Possum Trot, on its 27-mile route southward to Waterloo. The train was formerly a log train but now its main cargo is asphalt moved from the Berry Asphalt plant near Waterloo to a connection with MoPac at Reader, and as an off-the-beaten path tourist attraction.

Ice cream and cokes will be furnished courtesy of Ouachita Valley Dairy and Coca Cola Bottling Company of Camden. Snacks and film are available at the Reader depot and on the trains.

To get to the park from Camden, follow Highway 24 and turn right on Highway 368 three miles west of Chidester. From Prescott and other points west, travel Highway 24 to the intersection of Highway 368.

Astronauts Say Goodbye to the Moon

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It was time to say goodbye. To let that silver moon shrink in the distance. To relegate to memory those three days of climbing lunar mountains, peering into deep canyons, dodging craters in a dune buggy.

It's time to go home, as Mission Control said, to "come back again to the homes of men, on the cool green hills of earth."

It's time to acknowledge, as Dave Scott did, "We're ready too." But to add with mild regret, "It's been great. It's a fabulous place up here."

How do you tell them what it was all about? How do you paint a word picture of a dusty world turned to snow by the glare of the sun? How does a man in his 30s deal with a moon in its billions?

"Can you imagine that?" Scott said. "This rock has been here before there were creatures on earth."

And Jim Irwin holds a rock in his gloved hand, and says he thinks it's great and adds: "Hope it's green when we get home." What do you say about a world where you can't even trust your sense of color?

How do you re-create for people who weren't there that heart-pounding excitement: "I think we've found what we came for!"

"This crater is a gold mine ... There might be diamonds in the next one ... Fantastic ... It's beautiful out here ... I'm going to put a big circle around that glass bauble; I don't want to lose it ... Oh Boy! Whew!"

How do you explain the reverent moment, Dave Scott? "As I stand here in the wonders of the unknown Hadley, I sort of realized there is fundamental truth to nature. Man must explore. This is exploration at its greatest."

Back there now, beyond sight, the wreckage of the moon lander Falcon, the moon buggy Rover sitting in the valley like a toy gathering dust, its tracks criss-crossing Hadley Base like a freeway.

Expectations, dreams, great moments to become wistful memories. Perhaps as the poet A. E. Housman said of another place in memory:

"That is the land of lost content."

"I see it shining plain,

Nixons Are Flying to Northeast

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — President Nixon and his family fly to the Northeast Friday, with a brief stopover in New Hampshire and then a weekend of relaxation at a private island in Maine's Penobscot Bay.

Nixon's trip coincides with the appearance in New Hampshire, site of the nation's first presidential primary next year, of three potential Democratic presidential nominees and a challenger for the GOP nomination.

But the White House, in announcing the Nixon trip Wednesday night, attached no political significance to it.

Accompanying the President will be his wife, Pat, and the Nixons' younger daughter and son-in-law, David and Julie Eisenhower.

The White House said the President will stop in Manchester and go to Nashua to visit a quadriplegic, Dick Chaput, who was named by the Jaycees in 1966 as one of the nation's 10 most outstanding young men.

Nixon will return to Manchester, fly to Bangor, Maine, and then continue by helicopter to tiny Minot Island, owned by Jack J. Dreyfus Jr., senior partner in the New York investment house of Dreyfus & Co.

On the island are an eight-bedroom house, two cottages, a caretaker's house, a tennis court and a putting green.

The President and his family will return to Washington Sunday evening.

New Hampshire Democrats have scheduled a picnic at Hollis Sunday which will draw Sens. Henry Jackson of Washington, Birch Bayh of Indiana and George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

Another Democratic presidential hopeful, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, will be represented by Gov. Kenneth L. Curtis of Maine.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, who has split with the administration over the Vietnam war issue, is scheduled to open his campaign headquarters for the March 7 presidential primary Monday in Concord.

Texarkana Dog Finalist With 4 Others in Dog Hero of Year Contest

CHICAGO, August 5 — A German shepherd dog from Texarkana, Arkansas, which battled and drove off a vicious hog that had attacked its six-year-old mistress, today was named as one of the five finalists in the competition for the Ken-L Ration gold medal, to be awarded to America's Dog Hero of the Year for 1971. The winner will be named September 2.

The dog, Champ, went into action after Denise Stacks, 6, and her twin sister, Karen, attempted to chase two stray hogs out of their yard. The animals turned on them, and as they fled Denise stumbled and fell. In an instant, one of the hogs was mauling and biting the child in an attempt to kill her.

Fortunately for the girl, she had fallen where Champ, who was on a long leash, was able to reach her. Ignoring the size and viciousness of the hog, he charged the animal and managed to seize it by an ear and pull it away from the girl, who, despite her severe wounds, was able to regain her feet and reach the door before collapsing. Hurried to a hospital, she underwent lengthy surgery but is now on the road to recovery.

Also in the running is Scott, a German short-haired pointer from Kemp, Texas, who swam two miles to alert rescuers to the plight of his master, Kellan Warren, and a fishing companion. The two men were clinging to a half-submerged tree after their boat had capsized.

Another is Trixie, a mixed breed from Lynn, Mass., who brought rescuers to where her two-year-old master, Richard Sherry, was drowning in a pond near his home. Hours later, he was revived by a team of physicians at Lynn Hospital, and has since recovered completely.

Also among the finalists is Morgan, a golden retriever from Chagrin Falls, Ohio, who for once refused an automobile ride. Instead, he raced into a nearby field and circled about in the tall grass, barking continuously. His mistress left the car and went to the spot, there to find the unconscious form of a neighbor, William Akers, a diabetic, who had collapsed. Had he not been discovered, he would probably have gone into deep and perhaps fatal shock.

The fifth finalist is Shane, a German shepherd from Peoria, Ill. When a speeding truck raced through the alley behind the home of Shane's 17-month-old master, Donald Doran, Shane ran to the child, seized him by his shirt, and pulled the child to safety a split second before the vehicle arrived.

The winner, to be named September 2, will receive the Ken-L Ration gold medal, and he and his owners will be honored at a dinner in the Warwick Hotel in Houston September 9. In addition to the gold medal, the winner will receive a gold-plated lead and collar, a gold plaque, a custom-made dog blanket, and a year's supply of dog food. His owners also will be presented with a $1,000 U.S. bond.

Cites Foreign Threats to U.S. Farmer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation president says American farmers should not oppose efforts to establish agricultural economies in smaller nations.

William J. Kuhfuss, federation leader called efforts to develop foreign farm economies "dollars well spent." He said only "short-sighted" persons see such developments as threats to the U.S. farmer.

Kuhfuss also said new labor laws were needed to prevent a recurrence of the California grape boycott.

At a news conference, he said a realistic look was needed at what organized labor has done to the nation's economy.

"It's about time some reasoning and common sense was injected into contract negotiations," Kuhfuss said.

Unfair advantages granted by the Nixon administration and industry to labor had resulted in higher prices and harm to agriculture.

"When the railroads or the truckers or the dockworkers go on strike, we lose markets for our goods because the people who buy our goods turn to somewhere else," Kuhfuss said. "Many times when we lose a market because we can't transport our goods it's lost for good."

No Draft Law Possible for a Month

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he won't aid a filibuster against the House-passed compromise bill to extend the draft. But backers concede the bill can't become law for at least a month.

Passed by the House Wednesday 297 to 108, the measure contains a $2.4-billion-a-year military pay raise and a compromise provision urging President Nixon to negotiate a final date for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina.

The war-pullout measure was the first such language ever approved by the House, which earlier voted down a stronger proposal made by Mansfield and passed by the Senate. A House-Senate conference worked out the compromise, which doesn't please Mansfield and other Senate doves.

Mansfield said in an interview he may revive his original amendment, which would make it U.S. policy to get out of Indochina in nine months if all American prisoners are released. But he said he wouldn't try to attach it to the compromise draft bill.

"I don't intend to be obstructionist," Mansfield said. "I don't intend to filibuster and I don't intend to vote for the bill."

The draft bill is not expected to come up in the Senate until after the month-long congressional recess that begins Friday.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said it should be the first order of business after the Senate reconvenes Sept. 8.

The old draft law expired June 30 and officials say if a new one isn't passed soon they may have to use residual authority to call up some men who had been deferred.

Meanwhile, the Selective Service went ahead today with the lottery that will determine the order in which men who turn 19 next year will face military service.

Stennis said he did not anticipate a great deal of trouble in winning passage of the draft bill. But Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said he will be on hand to filibuster as soon as the bill comes up.

He said he hopes to muster a 12-man force of draft-bill opponents in an effort to talk it to death.

Henderson Trial Set August 23

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson, highest-ranking officer under charges arising from the mass slaying of civilians at My Lai, will go on trial Aug. 23 before a seven-officer jury. The trial is expected to last up to 12 weeks.

"How do you plead?" the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, asked after the jury was empaneled Wednesday.

"To all specifications and charges, not guilty," said Henderson, a much decorated combat soldier in World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

One Vietnam veteran, Maj. Gen. Charles M. Mount Jr., is on the court-martial jury of five colonels and two generals who were seated in one day.

The charges against Henderson, a 50-year-old native of Indianapolis, are that he was derelict in failing to investigate "allegations of reports of excessive killings of noncombatants" at My Lai, failing to report to higher command "Incidents and acts thought or alleged to be war crimes" and later lying to a high-level Army inquiry.

Conviction could bring a maximum sentence of six years in prison and dismissal from the service.

Attorneys for both sides and Henderson will appear in court on Aug. 16 to settle some pre-trial motions, but the jury will not be there.

As Maj. Carroll Techenor, the Army prosecutor, began questioning the nine-man panel of prospective jurors, one officer, Col. Robert L. Waters, asked to be excused.

"I am biased and I have prejudged and I don't think I am qualified as a jury member," Waters said.

"For or against the accused?" Techenor asked.

"For the accused," Waters said firmly. "I cannot be impartial." Waters served in Vietnam in 1957-58.

He was dismissed from jury duty.

Techenor later exercised his privilege of removing one prospective juror without cause, excusing Col. Austin Triplett Jr., an infantry officer who served two tours in Vietnam and was wounded there.

At the time of the massacre at My Lai, Henderson commanded the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division.

Capt. Ernest Medina, a subordinate officer who commanded the company involved in an infantry sweep through My Lai, is charged with overall responsibility for 102 civilian deaths at the Vietnamese hamlet. His court-martial at Ft. McPherson, Ga., is in recess.

The commander of a platoon in Medina's company, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., was convicted of murdering 22 civilians at My Lai. His conviction and life sentence are under Army review.

Quick Trip Seen for Job Issue

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1-billion bill to find jobs in a hurry primarily for Vietnam veterans was poised today for a quick trip from the Senate to the White House.

It sailed through the House Wednesday by a roll-call vote of 321 to 78 and was expected to get an equally fast shuffle through the Senate.

The bill has support of Democratic leaders. Since President Nixon requested the money he is expected to approve the measure even though he vetoed a broader and most costly bill last year.

The $1 billion is for the first half of a two-year program authorized earlier this year.

It is designed to provide quick jobs for up to 173,000 unemployed persons in public-service posts including police and fire departments, health and sanitation activities. Priority goes to Vietnam veterans.

The pay would average $6,000 a year, with a limited number of $12,000 professional positions for persons displaced by cutbacks in defense and other industries.

The federal government would pay 90 per cent of the wages with state and individual area governments paying the rest.

Under the bill $600 million would be distributed to states according to a formula comparing total unemployment and unemployment over 4.5 per cent over a three-month period with national figures. No state would get less than $1.5 million.

Another $250 million would be distributed by the Labor Department to areas of acute unemployment of 6 per cent or more, with $100 million being held in reserve for emergency use. The remaining $50 million would be for administrative expenses.

Attempts to change the formula so some states would get more and to prevent governors or other state officials from handling the aid claims of smaller areas were defeated by the House.

Blacks Are Disappointed on Bus Action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The director of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations says blacks in Arkansas expect nothing more out of the Nixon administration.

Council head Elijah Coleman said that was his reaction to President Nixon's statement Tuesday that the administration will stand for no more busing than the minimum required by law.

The President's comment, Coleman said, was "an attempt to placate the Southern mind."

"If the courts have decreed, and they have, that this is the way it (integration) must be done, then I think that the President, himself, is kind of in violation of the whole idea of law and order, in that the administration has the responsibility — the executive branch — of enforcing the judicial system," Coleman said.

Nixon seeks $1.5 billion from Congress to ease problems Southern school districts encounter as a result of integration, but he said he wanted none of the money used for busing.

Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said Congress would be asked to approve an amendment to the proposal to expressly prohibit using any of the funds for busing.

Earl Willis of the state Education Department said Wednesday that the original funding proposal seemed designed to permit use of federal funds to buy buses.

The President's statement Tuesday, however, indicates that no longer is the case, Willis said.

He added that he did not believe the state had the responsibility to carry out policies established by federal courts when those policies were not part of state or local policies.

Willis said that the change probably would chiefly affect eight Arkansas districts—those at El Dorado, Forrest City, West Memphis, Blytheville, Camden and three in Pulaski County.

Dr. Paul R. Fair, deputy superintendent of the Little Rock School District, said the decision would put a financial drain on the Little Rock school system, one of the three affected Pulaski County districts.

A recently approved plan for further integration of the district could involve the busing of about 7,000 students.

Ruling on Confession Expected

DEWITT, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge John S. Mosby was expected to rule this morning on whether to permit admission of an alleged signed confession in the Joe Kagebien murder trial.

The 15-year-old Kagebien of DeWitt is charged with first-degree murder in the Nov. 7, 1970, shotgun slaying of Jimmy Wayne Wampler, 27, of Wynne, a rice farmer.

Mosby, sitting as a special judge in this case, took under advisement Wednesday the question of whether to permit the introduction of the statement purportedly signed by Kagebien and two other youths.

Other alleged signers of the statement were Larry L. Mannis, 17, and Benny West, 16, both of DeWitt. They are awaiting trial on the same charge. Also charged with Teddy Kittler, 16, of DeWitt.

Sgt. Wendell Vest of the DeWitt police force testified Wednesday that Kagebien, Mannis and West came into DeWitt in a car traveling at a high rate of speed near the time when Wampler was slain.

Found on the youths or in their car was a wristwatch, rifle and flashlight identified by Wampler's cousin, J. A. Wampler of Wynne, as articles that belonged to the deceased.

Vest testified that Mannis told him and Police Chief James Mason that Kittler "had shot a man eight or nine miles south of DeWitt" near the Little Texas community.

Another policeman, James Oswald, testified that Mannis collapsed and was taken, with Kagebien, to a hospital. He said Mannis stated repeatedly, "We killed him, we killed him."

Kagebien's attorney, John Moncrief, objected. He said the statement by Mannis had nothing to do with Kagebien and that Kagebien was being tried separately from the other defendants. He was over-ruled.

Pros. Atty. Gene Raff asked whether Kagebien was present when Mannis made the statement "We killed him."

"Yes, sir, he was standing there," Oswald testified.

Moncrief objected and was over-ruled.

Did Kagebien deny the statement at that time? Raff asked.

"No," Oswald replied.

Moncrief said in his opening statement Tuesday that Kagebien and the youths had been drinking beer on Nov. 7 and that Kagebien went to sleep in the car and had no knowledge of how "the other boys came into contact with Mr. Wampler."

14 GIs Killed in Vietnam in Past Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 14 Americans were listed as killed in action in Vietnam last week, maintaining a six-year low in battlefield casualties. Fifteen other U.S. troops died of such nonhostile causes as accidents and illness.

A spokesman for the command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said that of the 14 battlefield deaths, six occurred in action during the seven-day period. Six others previously listed as missing in action were confirmed dead and two others wounded in previous weeks died last week.

Another 71 Americans were wounded last week.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese command reported its highest casualties in six weeks: 328 troops killed and 721 wounded in action in South Vietnam and Cambodia. The allied commands reported 1,634 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, a slight increase over the total of 1,536 the week before.

A South Vietnamese communique said enemy activities decreased last week in the northern, central and Saigon regions of South Vietnam but increased in the Mekong delta south of Saigon. It said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong kept up terror, sapper and rocket and mortar attacks against militia forces defending the countryside, and many of the casualties were among them.

For three weeks, American battlefield deaths have been at their lowest level since mid-1965 when the big U.S. troop buildup was under way. Thirteen U.S. troops were reported killed in action two weeks ago and 11 three weeks ago.

Battlefield communique from the allied commands today reported only minor skirmishes and a few rocket and mortar attacks on government positions.

Work Pushed on Campaign Spending Bill

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate pushed today to complete work on a broad election-spending bill after approving limits on the amount federal candidates may spend from their own pockets.

The Senate Wednesday voted down measures to bar use of compulsory union dues to finance election campaigns and to outlaw political spot advertisements less than 60 seconds long.

The basic measure would limit federal candidates' total media spending to 10 cents per voter, require full disclosure of election finances policed by a federal commission, and open the way for radio and television debates by relieving broadcasters of sometimes-awkward equal-time obligations.

The limits on personal election spending would be $50,000 for presidential and vice presidential candidates, $35,000 for senatorial hopefuls and $25,000 for those seeking a House seat. The Senate first refused to table the limits by a 58-33 vote, then passed them by voice vote.

Several hours later, however, it refused by voice vote to restrict to $5,000 the amount a citizen may contribute to a candidate. "We've said you can't spend more than $35,000 on your own campaign for the Senate. Now we would be saying you can take a million dollars from anybody else," said Sen. J. O. Pastore, floor manager of the bill.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Pastore, who is anxious to fashion a bill that will be acceptable to President Nixon, warned of veto hazards in the $2,000 limit.

Nixon, who last year vetoed a bill to limit election spending for radio and television on grounds it didn't cover other media, now favors this bill's provisions requiring full disclosure of election finances, but opposes limits on contributions.

Two amendments by Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., and Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., would have barred use of compulsory union dues to back a political candidate. Fannin's was withdrawn and Dominick's tabled by a 56-38 vote.

An amendment by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., which would have prohibited any election spots of less than 60 seconds was tabled 74 to 17.

"Are we to select our leaders on the basis of little more than a smile, a slogan and a witicism?" said Hartke, nearly defeated last year in a campaign during which his Republican opponent made heavy use of short spots seeking to link Hartke with the radical left.

Pastore, however, argued that restricting use of spots might violate constitutional free-speech rights.

MURDERS TRIPLE.
NEW YORK (AP) — Murders in the last decade have tripled in New York City, say police reports.

The city had 1,117 murders last year compared with 390 in 1960.

With all this high-speed flexing, the plies and cords of the tires, internally, are rubbing against each other furiously, like the sticks of Boy Scout fire-makers, resulting in a great deal of friction (which means wear) and heat (which is destructive).

The extra cost of extra wear can't be calculated with any accuracy, but let's say the extra wear means reducing tire life by only 10 per cent, just during four months of hot-weather driving. Going back to the for- instance above, the cost of tires for 24,000 miles of driving would be increased by slightly more than 10 per cent.

So you're paying at least something, in extra wear, to save the nuisance of changing tires a couple of times a year—and the cost of two extra wheels. On the other hand, you have the twin nuisances of the rumble you get from snow tires in highway driving, and the bumper ride.

Sierra points also to another reason why, in some localities, summertime changeover may be not only a good idea but a necessity. Studded snow tires, which have been coming into increasing use, are in many states illegal for use on snowless roads.

PERSONAL FINANCE

A lot of motorists would rather keep their money in their pockets, and do without regular tires on the rear wheels for summer driving. We see more and more cars riding on snow tires through- out the summer, the drivers no doubt congratulating themselves on the money they're saving.

But they haven't got the equation quite right, says one tire company official.

To the driver, the saving seems obvious. He's bought only one pair of tires instead of two, so he's got the price of the second pair left in his pocket. It sounds like money saved—but Piero Sierra points out that it isn't, and that, in fact, this "economy" is probably costing the driver money.

Sierra is vice-president of Pirelli Tire Corp. It used to be that only racing drivers knew about the Italian-made Pirellis, but now the steel-belted radials are available for most American pleasure cars. Sierra says research in the company's performance bureau indicates the wear factor is so much greater for snow tires, in summer highway driving, that cost per mile driven rises appreciably.

That introduces another element into the economy of driving year-round on snows, which is illusory in the first place. Let's say a $100 pair of snow tires is good for 12,000 miles. A $100 pair of regular tires is also good for 12,000 miles. The arithmetic book tells us that you can do 24,000 miles of driving in one of two ways: on two sets of snow tires or one set of snows and one set of regulars. Either way, the end cost is $200.

But in practice it won't come out equal because of the extra summertime wear snow tires are subject to. A major cause of tire wear is internal friction and heat. Strobe pictures reveal "standing waves" in tires as they roll along at highway speeds. The wave is a bulge that stays in one place, in relation to the road—which means that it's actually moving around the tire, once for every revolution the wheel makes.

With all this high-speed flexing, the plies and cords of the tires, internally, are rubbing against each other furiously, like the sticks of Boy Scout fire-makers, resulting in a great deal of friction (which means wear) and heat (which is destructive).

The extra cost of extra wear can't be calculated with any accuracy, but let's say the extra wear means reducing tire life by only 10 per cent, just during four months of hot-weather driving. Going back to the for- instance above, the cost of tires for 24,000 miles of driving would be increased by slightly more than 10 per cent.

So you're paying at least something, in extra wear, to save the nuisance of changing tires a couple of times a year—and the cost of two extra wheels. On the other hand, you have the twin nuisances of the rumble you get from snow tires in highway driving, and the bumper ride.

Sierra points also to another reason why, in some localities, summertime changeover may be not only a good idea but a necessity. Studded snow tires, which have been coming into increasing use, are in many states illegal for use on snowless roads.

Compromise on Campaign Spending

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, hoping to shave the odds for 1972 by fashioning veto-proof reform of election spending laws, have compromised readily with Republicans on three major points.

Dozens of lesser amendments remained today before a final vote.

By voice vote Tuesday the Senate approved a limit on election spending by federal office-seekers of 10 cents per voter, but with no more than six cents of it for either print or broadcasting, as the candidates chooses. This would allow each presidential nominee to spend $84. million for radio-TV ads.

The Senate voted 72 to 21 to repeal equal-time broadcast restrictions for all federal candidates, not just for president and vice president, and 88 to 2 to establish a federal elections commission of six members appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate.

"These changes are going to make it more difficult for the President to veto it," said Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chief Democratic floor strategist. Last year President Nixon vetoed a bill limiting broadcast spending only, saying it was not comprehensive enough.

A tough fight had been expected over the spending limits, which Democrats wanted to put at five cents per eligible voter for broadcasting and five cents for newspapers, magazines and other print media.

Republicans, who outspent financially pressed Democrats 2 to 1 on broadcast advertising in the 1968 presidential race, supported the overall 10-cent limit but wanted candidates to be free to spend all of it on whatever media they chose.

Both sides appeared adamant until the issue came up on the floor. But a compromise was quickly approved by voice vote.

The compromise retains the Democratic 5-5 formula, but allows the candidate to spend up to 20 per cent of his print dollars for broadcasting, or vice versa.

Pastore, who urged the Senate at the outset of debate not to "make this a game between Republicans and Democrats," also readily compromised on two other issues which administration officials had indicated were most important.

Blood Won't Tell On Baby's Father

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—They say you can tell who a baby's mother is but you can't prove who the daddy is. Is there a way by a blood test? Should the baby's blood and the daddy's blood be the same blood type? A girl claims my boy is the father of her baby, but she was going with three other boys at the time.

Dear Reader — You are about right. A blood test does not prove who the father is, but it can sometimes prove who is not the father. If the baby has a different blood type than either the alleged father or the mother, then someone else has been in the act. If the blood type is the same as the alleged father you can't prove a thing because the main blood types are quite common and it is possible that someone else with the same blood type may have fathered the child. Blood doesn't always tell.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am past 70 and have high blood pressure, 185 over 105. My doctor has prescribed four different kinds of pills, but they haven't helped. I have an empty head feeling like I was in a box. Is my blood pressure dangerous? Can

Opening lead—♦ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It was shortly before the Ides of March. Marc Antony lost no time getting to six hearts after Caesar gave him a jump raise. Brutus opened the queen of diamonds.

Antony studied the hand and saw that he would need two spade tricks to score the slam. The normal play would be to lead the spade suit by leading the deuce from dummy, rising with the king and leading back toward dummy with the intention of finessing the 10. This would insure his contract any time West held the spade jack or against some special holdings of the jack in the East hand.

It would also lose against the actual layout but Antony made the hand. He drew four rounds of trumps, stripped the hand of diamonds and clubs and led the queen of spades from dummy. Cassius, sitting East, could do no better than take his ace and lead back the seven, which Marc allowed to ride to dummy's 10.

"Why did you make that play?" asked Caesar.

"Brutus had such a tough time before discarding the four of spades on my fourth trump lead that I decided to play Cassius for both honors."

"Why?" asked Caesar. "Brutus is an honorable man."

"So they say," replied Antony. "but I am not too certain about that matter."

Overtures to China Irks Labor Leader

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany, generally a supporter of President Nixon's foreign policies, appears headed toward a major break with the White House over Nixon's overtures to Communist China.

The issue, along with the big labor federation's bitter criticism of Nixon's economic policies, could become a part of the AFL-CIO's extensive politicking among its own 13.6 million members and other voters against Nixon's expected 1972 re-election bid.

However, some members of the 35-man executive council of the 122-union AFL-CIO reportedly have reservations about the wisdom of attacking Nixon's new China policy at least until after his planned visit to Peking, preferring to see if any good comes of the trip.

"I give Nixon a plus for winding down the war in Indochina and that ends the plusses," the 76-year-old Meany said recently in a broad hint at a forthcoming blast at Nixon's China move.

The issue is expected to come to a head at the AFL-CIO's executive council meeting opening in San Francisco next Monday.

While Nixon's overall relations with organized labor in general and the AFL-CIO in particular have never been of the best, he has enjoyed labor support on most aspects of his conduct of foreign policy. Meany has steadfastly supported Nixon's Vietnam war policies, as he did with previous Democratic presidents.

A sharp AFL-CIO attack on Nixon over the China issue could have some impact among blue-collar workers who Nixon has tried to woo away from the traditional ties with the Democratic party.

In another speech, Meany said Nixon's planned visit to China could damage U.S. dealings with Israel, West Germany and other countries afraid of any warning of U.S.-Communist relations.

Meany questioned whether Nixon's Peking visit would win freedom for U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

"What is Red China's contribution to the cause of peace in our time? Are they going to put a little pressure on their junior partners in Hanoi to look at the prisoners-of-war issue in a humanitarian way?" Meany asked.

Meany raised some of his questions before Secretary of State William P. Rogers announced Monday the United States is dropping its longstanding opposition to admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

But the labor chief's position reportedly has hardened since.

Skillet Beef Is Quick and Tasty

By ARLEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Ground beef offers a chance to vary a meal and stay "somewhat" within a budget. Especially tasty and attractive is a Skillet Beef and Vegetables dish. The melding of juices from the browned beef and the vegetables is a flavor bonus. The combination is a good way to encourage all in the family to eat more vegetables to offset the empty calories consumed in snacks during the day.

SKILLET BEEF AND VEGETABLES

- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup fine soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 pound ground beef chuck
- 2 tablespoons cooking oil
- 2 cups thinly sliced onions
- 3 cups sliced potatoes
- 1/2 cups sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cups sliced zucchini
- 1/2 cup water

Surround ground beef patty with vegetables for quick meal.

Combine lightly beaten egg with crumbs, catsup, minced onion, 2 teaspoons salt and Worcestershire sauce. Add beef and mix thoroughly with fork. Shape into thick patty, about 6 inches in diameter. Place beef patty in center of large skillet with oil; sprinkle onions around it. Brown beef on both sides, turning carefully with pancake turner and spatula. Stir onions frequently as beef browns. Meanwhile, arrange separate groups of potatoes, carrots, celery and zucchini in large second skillet. Add water and sprinkle with remaining 2 teaspoons salt. Cover and parboil 5 minutes. When meat is browned on both sides, push onions together to one side of skillet. Using a slotted spoon, place parboiled vegetables around beef. Bake in 350-degree oven about 40 minutes until meat is cooked and vegetables are tender. Turn vegetables over gently, so pan juices season them. Makes 4 or more servings.

Appliance Care Saves Money

By M.R. FIX

With the cost of appliance repairs going up all the time some people may decide it is cheaper to throw an appliance away at the first sign of a malfunction and buy a new one.

It becomes more important than ever to give appliances proper maintenance and to avoid unnecessary service calls.

Proper care will make appliances last longer, work better. The instruction book supplied by the manufacturer is your best guide. It will tell you how much laundry and detergent to use in a washer, how much air space to leave around a refrigerator and whether to use distilled or tap water in a steam iron.

These may seem like small matters but neglect in just such areas leads to trouble.

Save such booklets and save parts lists as well. Armed with a model number and the part number you can order and replace many parts yourself. After all, it doesn't take an expert to replace a cracked washing machine agitator, a broken handle, a worn-out spring.

It's an elementary thing but check to see that appliances are properly connected. Some are left connected all the time. Others, such as electric irons and toasters, should be disconnected when not in use.

Turning off the water supply at the valves will save wear on automatic washers. An automatic dryer that doesn't dry properly or doesn't seem to turn off in time may be suffering from nothing more than a clogged lint filter.

Refer to manufacturer's booklet for parts numbers

Appliance cords wear out in time. If the appliance goes on and off as you move the cord there is probably a short in it. Replace it entirely. Plugs may no longer remain tight in the outlet and should be replaced.

Sometimes a cord pulls loose from the appliance; a problem more common to vacuum cleaners. Remove the frayed ends and bare enough wire to wrap around the terminals or to other wires inside the appliance. If you are splicing wires solder or use solderless connectors. Twisting and taping is not enough. Use insulating tape over your connections.

Keep appliances properly lubricated. Your owner's manual will tell you how often and how much. Acquaint yourself with oiling points. Felt inside an oil cup should be kept moist with oil, not wet.

If fuses keep blowing out when the washer starts up or the refrigerator goes on, try to connect the appliance on a different circuit. Or eliminate other items from that circuit to avoid overloading.

Some appliances have fuses within them. Ranges, dryers, washers, and even some small appliances have fuses built in. Learn where such fuses are located and have spares on hand.

Vacuum cleaner bags get filled and then the cleaner fails to pick up. Replace bags frequently. Tank-type cleaners that fail to pick up may have a blocked hose. Clean out with a long wire.

Private Eyes Join to Keep Good Image

By JIM MCCALL
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A group of private investigators in the state have joined forces in an attempt to maintain the integrity and improve the public image of the investigative profession.

"A common feeling is that most private investigators are a bunch of crooks," said Fred M. Meyers, who is president of the Arkansas Private Investigators Association.

Meyers said that most people who take a dim view of investigators have at one time hired "a bad one."

"Someone uses an investigator once and gets taken, and he gets the idea that all detectives operate the same way," Meyers said. "There's only a very small percentage of really bad detectives."

Meyers said the APIA had 14 members. He said there were about 50 licensed private investigators in the state.

He said the group had begun drafting legislation to strengthen the licensing requirements of investigators.

"The only requirements are that an individual must be 21 years old, have no criminal record and pass a background investigation conducted by the State Police," he said. "The APIA would like to see an applicant have to meet an experience requirement or serve as an apprentice."

Meyers said the group also had been considering the possibility of beginning an educational program for businessmen and others who could benefit from the services of a private investigator.

"We could explain what a person might expect when he hires a private investigator and also point out the services the investigators perform," Meyers said. "A lot of people have no idea what a broad range of services we offer."

Meyers said that in addition to many types of investigative work, investigators also provide security surveys for retail businesses, security guards, body guards, electronic security, consultation services, escorts for the transportation of valuables and alarm services.

Large Cities Losers in School Case

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big losers in President Nixon's delicate balancing act on Southern school desegregation appear to be the larger cities and towns below the Mason-Dixon line.

Almost inevitably this fall they will have to meet stiffened Supreme Court requirements for approximate racial balancing in elementary and secondary schools. But, unless Congress intervenes, the government won't help them buy and operate the additional buses necessary to meet the high court's April guidelines.

Another casualty in the White House decision Tuesday in the Austin, Tex., school case was Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Nixon specifically rejected the Austin desegregation plan mapped by HEW and approved by Richardson. By implication the chief executive cast aside Richardson's administration-adopted strategy of firmly but quietly enforcing the Supreme Court's toughened desegregation requirements without criticizing the ruling itself.

Nixon gained these multiple effects from two actions.

He said the Justice Department will appeal as "inconsistent with recent rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court" a decision by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack B. Roberts. Roberts allowed part-time integration of Austin pupils rather than the HEW plan requiring extensive busing for full-time desegregation.

The President also amended the administration's pending $1.5-billion emergency school assistance bill to forbid any expenditures for busing.

The net effect was to tell the South the administration opposes cross-town busing of students for desegregation but is required to enforce the letter of Supreme Court decisions. Past critics have called this tactic "hiding behind the court."

"I am against busing as that term is commonly used in school desegregation cases," Nixon said.

The President underscored this message by instructing the really needed," Meyers said. "We can conduct in-depth investigations and other services that the police agencies just don't have the time nor manpower to do."

In an effort to upgrade the profession, the group has adopted a code of ethics that sets standards for investigators concerning fees, client relationships and methods of investigation.

The APIA's most pressing problem, according to Meyers, is soliciting the interest of other licensed investigators in the state.

"Our association has been endorsed by the State Police, the Arkansas Bar Association and many private individuals," Meyers said.

He added that any member of the group would be happy to speak to any group about the investigative profession and the APIA.

Church Meeting Changed
Pastor W. M. Martin of the Rising Star Baptist Church would like for us to notice the change of date for the regular church meeting. Instead of the usual Friday night meeting all members and officers are urged to be present on Saturday, August 7, at 7:30 p.m. Deacons will meet at 6 o'clock p.m. Business of vital importance will be discussed.

Politics Is Charged in HEW Firings

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Dallas, Tex., office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has objected to the dismissal of two commodity distribution representatives by the state welfare department.

The objection was expressed in a letter July 19 from Clarence M. Lambright of Dallas, the regional commissioner for social rehabilitation services of the HEW.

Elmer O. Stuckey of Rison and Robert Kidder of Perryville were notified July 1 that they were being dismissed.

The action came after the regional HEW office in Dallas agreed with a request by Dalton Jennings, state welfare commissioner, to have the four commodity distribution positions removed from civil service protection.

Lambright said in the letter, however, that the agreement was based on the understanding that the persons who held the jobs at that time would continue to have the civil service protection.

Jennings said Wednesday, however, that no such understanding existed. He said he had not answered Lambright's letter because he did not intend to let the federal office dictate to his agency.

A copy of the letter was revealed Wednesday by Bob K. Scott of Little Rock, an attorney for Stuckey.

The other two commodity distribution representatives have not been fired.

The positions were filled by political appointment before the former welfare commissioner, Len E. Blaylock, had the jobs placed under the civil service protections of the state Merit System Council.

Charles T. Bernard of Earle, state Republican party chairman, said Saturday that Stuckey's case illustrated a "credibility canyon" in the administration of Gov. Dale Bumpers.

He said Bumpers talks of expanding the Merit System while contracting it through the actions of his administration. Jennings is a Bumpers appointee.

Jennings' notice of dismissal to Stuckey said the action was based on Stuckey's "past political activity" and because of complaints from the Southeast Arkansas area for which Stuckey was responsible.

However, Jennings refused Wednesday to permit Scott to examine copies of any complaints lodged against Stuckey.

He said, however, that Stuckey, who was appointed during the administration of former Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, had been "blatantly political on the Republican side."

"If it's politics, then I've dismissed two or four Republicans but I felt that in each case it was not the best interest of the agency to keep him," Jennings said.

Stuckey's replacement is Ray Curry, a Democrat who was county judge in Cleveland County until defeated in the 1970 primaries.

Justice Department and HEW to "work with individual school districts to hold busing to the minimum required by law."

The White House statements marked a sharp change in recent political tactics on the desegregation issue.

The administration, on Richardson's advice, has for the past four months muted any displeasure with the high court's pro-busing decision and emphasized its intention to enforce the edict—hoping for minimum controversy and disruption in the South.

With rising opposition in Southern cities to cross-town busing, the President has seemed to reject this course because politically it ties the administration too closely to busing advocates.

Now a Choice, Uncle Sam or IPSA Mail

By RON JENKINS
Associated Press Writer
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — "Now you have a choice—IPSA's mail or Uncle Sam's," the slogan says.

IPSA?
The acronym for Independent Postal Service of America may not be a household word and the idea of getting bags of mail hung on door knobs may be a bit startling. But officers of IPSA say the U.S. Postal Service now has a solid competitor and a possible unofficial, future partner.

Thomas L. Murray, president of the firm since it was founded 3½ years ago, says IPSA carriers will be delivering mail to residents in every city with 50,000 or more residents by 1975.

The service deals in third-class mail, or so-called "junk mail" although the term is taboo among IPSA employees. It now delivers the material at cheaper rates than the Postal Service in hundreds of cities in 19 states and Canada.

And it has other projects in the works:

—Construction of permanent post office buildings in 15 locations, stretching from Oklahoma City to Buffalo, N.Y.

—Expanded use of the "IP-Sagram," a modern version of the telegram. It uses facsimile transmission, which lets customers send messages in their own handwriting.

—Attempts to corral what could be its most lucrative business—wide-scale delivery of magazines and other publications.

—Public service projects in certain areas, such as free mail from taxpayers to their congressmen and five-cent rates for intracity delivery of Christmas cards.

"We're playing post office for real now," says Murray, recalling the firm's somewhat shaky start.

"Since the first of the year we have been able to get all the financing we need," he added in an interview. "We didn't get this in the past and it caused problems—operating on a cash flow basis."

Murray, who immigrated from Ireland 17 years ago, points to two other factors for the upswing in business.

One was the recent rate increase by the Postal Service. IPSA currently charges $33 to $34 for 1,000 saturation-type third-class mailings. The national service gets $40 per 1,000 mailings up to 250,000 pieces. After that, the U.S. rate jumps to $42 per 1,000. IPSA's rate does not change and customers are guaranteed that the mail will arrive on the specified day.

"Uncle Sam is the only person in the business world who penalizes his clients for doing more business for him," one IPSA official commented.

Murray also contended that IPSA was helped, ironically, by passage of the Postal Reform Act.

"They could have about put us out of business if they had true postal reform, but they didn't," he said.

Murray said the postal reform as passed caused widespread dissatisfaction among the nation's biggest users of mail, adding: "The lobbyists for the magazines and other concerns saw all their years of efforts go down the drain."

IPSA wants to get into the business of delivering magazines on a national scale someday and has been negotiating with several publishing companies. A spokesman for one firm, publisher of the top five national magazines in circulation, declined to elaborate but said of IPSA: "We've used them in the past and expect to use them more in the future."

IPSA now lists many major retail corporations and business firms among its clients, including Sears-Roebuck, Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Montgomery Ward. The state of Kansas has expressed interest in doing business with IPSA because of the cost for official correspondence under the new postal rates.

Under federal law, IPSA employees are barred from using residential mail boxes, so they hang plastic bags of letters around door knobs.

Slow Learners in School Are Helped

EARLE, Ark. (AP)—A group of students who are classified as "slow learners" are being aided by a special 10-week summer school program at Earle financed by the Arkansas Council on Human Relations.

Elijah Coleman, executive director of the council, said Tuesday that about $1,200 was being spent on the program which began July 5 and runs through the first week in September. Coleman said similar amounts will be spent on other programs in about 15 Arkansas towns.

Coleman said the money was part of an $83,000 grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The grant was designated to be used in helping school districts overcome problems created by desegregation.

"Other than just helping the slow learner, we hope the program will help black and white students work together on school problems," Coleman said.

Disclosures on Laos Are Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today promised new disclosures about how the Central Intelligence Agency bankrolls military operations in Laos.

Among the things to be made public, reliable sources said, is how part of CIA funds are hidden in budgets of other agencies.

They said this was among subjects discussed in a rare 3½-hour secret Senate session June 7, a censored transcript of which will be published today in the Congressional Record.

Publication of the transcript comes two days after release of a Foreign Relations Committee staff report that was the basis of the June 7 session.

The report disclosed that $70 million in CIA funds was spent last year to support a 30,000-man force of Laotian irregulars, considered a more effective fighting force than the Royal Lao Army, and that most of about $66 million went to the CIA to support Thai troops in Laos.

In all, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said recently, $350 million was spent in Laos in the fiscal year that ended June 30, exclusive of bombing costs that run several times that figure.

In the new fiscal year, military assistance alone is scheduled to run $90 million more than last year.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., wants to limit U.S. spending in Laos, including bombing in the North not related to the Ho Chi Minh trail, to $200 million, about one-fifth the 1971 level.

The report to the Foreign Relations Committee by James W. Lowenstein and Richard M. Moose, who visited Laos in late April and early May, said the military situation there is continuing to deteriorate despite stepped-up U.S. aid.

The report and the transcript were declassified after five weeks of negotiations between the Senate and the executive branch.

Sandwiches Frozen for Convenience

HOPE, Ark. — Save last-minute preparation for teas, buffet meals, and picnics by preparing and freezing sandwiches in advance.

Dolores McBride, Extension home economist, says that most kinds of sandwiches, when properly packaged, freeze satisfactorily. She suggests that frozen sandwiches are a good way for homemakers to use leftover roast and chicken.

Homemakers may prefer to make the sandwich fillings in a large quantity and freeze in small containers for later use. The fillings will take less space than sandwiches; however, frozen sandwiches offer last minute convenience for lunch boxes and picnics.

The home economist suggests sandwich fillings suitable for freezing: Cheddar cheese spread, sliced or ground meat, sliced or ground poultry, fish, cooked egg yolk, peanut butter, nut pastes, olives, and pickles.

Fillings not suitable for freezing are those that contain raw vegetables that lose their appetizing crispness and flavor (lettuce, carrots, tomatoes, etc.); those that contain the whites of hard cooked eggs which are likely to become tough during freezer storage; and fruit jellies, mayonnaise, and salad dressing. These are likely to soak into the bread and make the sandwiches soggy.

Day old bread is preferred for making sandwiches for freezing. To help keep the bread from absorbing moisture from the filling, the home economist suggests spreading the inside of each piece of bread with softened butter or margarine.

Open-faced sandwiches will pack better if frozen on cookie sheets before wrapping. When packing, place two pieces of waxed paper between each layer.

Wrap sandwiches in moisture-vapor proof material.

To serve, thaw in sealed wrapping. Frozen sandwiches will thaw at room temperature in from 3 to 3½ hours.

Will Use Bus to Register

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—County Judge Frank Mackey of Pulaski County agreed Tuesday to allow County Clerk Jerome Climer to conduct a voter registration drive from former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's 1970 campaign bus.

Climer had proposed to purchase the bus, but Mackey objected and Rockefeller then offered the bus to Climer. The bus was delivered Tuesday after Mackey accepted the offer.

The clerk said the use of the bus would help overcome a key problem resulting from the fact that registration services are not available in some sections of the county.
